Internet for those in need.

The TELUS Internet for Good® program provides low-income families with children, individuals with disabilities, youth aging out of government care and low-income seniors with high-speed internet starting at $10/month and access to a low-cost computer.

Sign up today.

For low-income families with children:

Families receiving the maximum Canada Child Benefit (CCB) can upload a copy of their latest CCB notice at telus.com/InternetForGood

For individuals with disabilities:

Individuals receiving the BC Persons with Disability (PWD) benefit, the Alberta Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH) benefit or the Canada Pension Plan Disability benefit (CPPD) can upload a copy of their supporting documentation for these benefits at telus.com/InternetForGood

For low-income seniors:

Low-income seniors receiving at least $6,500 per year of the Government Income Supplement (GIS) can upload a copy of their Old Age Security statement, also known as the T4A (OAS), at telus.com/InternetForGood

For youth aging out of government care:

Youth who have been in the child welfare system and can produce a letter of eligibility completed by a ministry/agency representative can apply at telus.com/InternetForGood

Internet for Good is only available in Alberta, British Columbia and some areas of Quebec. Minimum system requirements apply. Final eligibility for the services will be determined by a TELUS representative. Cannot be combined with other offers. Offer is subject to change without notice. See complete program terms and eligibility criteria at telus.com/internetforgood. For low-income families with children and individuals living with disabilities: Offer available for 2 years upon activation. In market pricing applies after 24 months. To ensure that there are no gaps in service or bill increases, eligible participants are encouraged to re-apply before their 2-year service anniversary. For low-income seniors, the discount is ongoing.
