Program Description

This part-time (or full-time) program is designed to build management capacity among current social housing managers and staff as well as those interested in pursuing a career in social housing. It was developed through a partnership between Langara College and the BC Non-Profit Housing Association. The five required courses include two specifically focused on the social housing sector along with three more general topics, which enhance the students' knowledge and skills. The certificate is also validated by the Canadian Institute of Housing, and graduates can apply for membership that is recognized internationally.

Student Profile

The Social Housing Management Certificate program is designed for working adults who require a part-time (or full-time) study option. Examples include the following:

- Current social housing staff and managers
- Current social housing volunteers and service providers
- New social housing staff, managers, and board members without non-profit housing experience
- Experienced property managers without non-profit housing experience who wish to enter the social housing field

Required Courses

The program includes five required courses, as follows:

- PROP 1030 Social and Affordable Housing in BC *
- PROP 1052 Social Housing Management *
- BSAD 1020 Negotiation and Dispute Resolution
- GBSC 1006 Financial Skills for Managers
- GBSC 1004 Business Communications

Students may register in any individual course, subject to a prerequisite in the case of Social Housing Management.

The two social housing courses deal with social housing history, operations, and management. The balance of the program develops essential knowledge and skills in communications, negotiation, dispute resolution, and financial statement review.

See page 6 of this brochure to locate current information on course dates, fees, and registration procedures. Course descriptions begin on page 4. Also see the Course Planner on page 7 for courses offered by semester.

Learning Outcomes

The essential goal of the program is to help students “think like a manager” in a social housing context. Emphasis is placed on the practical elements of social housing management. After successful completion of the certificate program, graduates will be able to:

- Demonstrate a broad knowledge of social housing history, laws, policies, operations, and practices
- Analyze and discuss issues unique to social housing such as government subsidy programs; rent geared to income; housing for the frail elderly, tenants with mental or developmental disabilities, and working with volunteer staff and boards
- Interpret laws and policies relevant to social housing management and utilize this information to help develop effective management plans and strategies
- Research social housing issues, analyze financial information, and contribute to the development of operational plans for a non-profit housing project
- Explain and discuss the preparation of operating budgets, capital budgets, and capital reserves
- Explain and discuss security and risk management for a housing complex

- Demonstrate negotiation skills acquired through an enhanced understanding of the negotiation process
- Apply and discuss a variety of dispute resolution techniques
- Utilize an understanding of interpersonal and group interactions to develop and implement effective workplace communications strategies, including written, verbal, and non-verbal interactions
- Prepare and deliver oral presentations
- Analyze and comprehend the unique needs of social housing residents, and seek creative ways of responding to those needs
- Apply for membership in the Canadian Institute of Housing and receive international recognition.

Starting the Program

Students may begin the program in any semester by registering in one of the available program courses. Registration is on a course-by-course basis each semester. There is no program application/admission procedure.

The entrance requirement for any program course is completion of British Columbia Grade 12 or equivalent, or 19 years of age or older. Students should be able to read and write English at the Grade 12 level in order to successfully complete the assignment and reading requirements in each course.

Completing the Program

To earn the Social Housing Management Certificate, students must complete the five required courses within a three-year period with a minimum grade of C (60%) in each course. Upon successful completion of all required courses, students may apply for the certificate at the Continuing Studies office.

A student who takes one course per semester will complete the entire certificate program in about one and a half years (5 semesters). A student who is working full-time should only take one course per semester. A student who is not working could take two or more courses per semester and complete the certificate program in one year or less (2 or 3 semesters).

Class Times and Location

Most courses hold classroom sessions one evening per week over a 10 or 12 week period. Some courses hold classroom sessions on Saturday.

All classes are held at the Langara College campus at 100 West 49th Avenue in Vancouver. Room numbers are posted on the 'room board' next to the Continuing Studies office.

Tuition and Books

Tuition is paid on a course-by-course basis upon course registration at the start of each semester. The total tuition for all courses in the certificate program is approximately $2,143. Tuition is subject to change. Tuition for individual courses is listed at the end of each course description (see below).

The total cost for textbooks is approximately $142. Textbooks for the two social housing courses are included in the tuition fee. Textbooks are available in the Langara College Bookstore at the start of each semester. The Bookstore telephone number is 604-323-5525. Bookstore information is also available on the College website www.langara.ca

Course Descriptions

Note on Course Scheduling: Courses normally run one 3-hour classroom session per week on a weekday evening or a Saturday. For example, a 36-hour course may run over 12 weekly sessions at 3 hours per session. See page 6 to locate current scheduling information. Also see the Course Planner on page 7. Tuition is subject to change.
